

Sponsored by

This award honors a current Kentucky teacher in grades K-12 who demonstrates an exceptional commitment to teaching financial literacy topics and motivating students to learn about personal finance. The nominee must not have received this award in the last 5 years. The grand prize is $300 that can be used for financial literacy classroom materials or to attend related training, such as the national Jump$Tart teacher conference (www.jumpstart.org).

Nominate yourself or someone else for this prestigious award and be recognized by your peers for all of the work being done in the classroom to teach financial literacy!

Hurry! Deadline to enter is May 3, 2021
(Winner will be notified by June 15)

Grand Prize: $300
for classroom materials or training

Nomination Form is available online at www.kyjumpstart.org.

2021 FINANCIAL LITERACY TEACHER OF THE YEAR
NOMINATION FORM

Self nomination

Nomination by individual other than nominee*

Nominator Name:		Phone:		Email:
Relationship to Nominee:

*NOTE: If you nominate a teacher for this award, the nominee must be notified and agree to the nomination prior to submission of the entry.

NOMINEE INFORMATION

Name:
Home Address:		City, State:		Zip:
Home Phone:		Cell Phone
Personal Email:
School Name:		Principal:
School Address:		City, State:		Zip:
School Phone:
School Email:

Provide two brief statements that summarize and highlight why the nominee deserves this award:

1.
2.

Response Criteria #1: Motivating Students

How does the nominee motivate students to learn about personal finance and relate the content to real-world situations?

Response Criteria #2: Innovation/Creativity

How has the educator been innovate/creative in implementing financial literacy in the classroom/school?

Response Criteria #3: Teaching Approaches

What financial literacy teaching approaches has the nominee used to effectively teach personal finance?

Response Criteria #4: Standards

In what way were the personal finance standards in the Kentucky Program of Studies requirements or the National Jump$tart Standards (www.jumpstart.org/national-standards.html) met and exceeded?

Response Criteria #5: Collaborations

Who did the nominee collaborate with in teaching financial literacy and what were their roles (community, business, post-secondary, non-profit, government, other educators, etc.)?

Response Criteria #6: Results/Measurements/Evaluation

How was student mastery of personal finance concepts assessed, and what evidence is there that students have achieved the personal finance objectives?

Financial literacy resources utilized:Additional information about the nominee:

Grade level(s) taught:		Current subject(s) taught:
Years as a teacher:		Awards received:
Professional memberships or organizations involved with:

Is the nominee willing to be a spokesperson for financial literacy on behalf of Jump$tart? Yes No

The Kentucky Jump$tart Coalition for Personal Financial Literacy reserves the right to award fewer or no prizes in the event there are insufficient numbers of qualified entries. The coalition will determine, at its sole discretion, whether each entry meets the entry criteria. The coalition reserves the right to disqualify any entry that does not comply with contest rules.

Email applications (either typed or handwritten and scanned) to tanonson@classact.org by May 3, 2021.